

Now compare your results with the other groups, and answer the following questions:

5. Are there any advantages to one representation or another?
6. Do you think different representations can tell different stories?
7. What do you think came first, the drawing of the room or the list?